NOVEL HORSE RACE IN CALIFORNIA. At the Union race course, San Francisco, the other day, a jockey named Jack Powers won $5,000 on a "bet that he could make 150 miles in eight consecutive bours." The race December, 1856, the undersigned, as trustee took place on Sunday, and it was accomplishtherein named, will offer for sale, on Tuesday ed in six hours and forty five minutes. He the 22d of June, 1808 in front of the Mayor's used twenty four horses (of the California Mustang breed. The first sixty miles were done in two hours and thirty minutes. Powof Alexandria, bounded as follows: Beginning ers dismounted seventy-two times during the race. The farthest any one horse was riddon at a time was four miles, and the least distance one mile. He ran a top speed the whole distance. On taking a new borse, he would spring from the saddle, run a few steps to stratch his legs and immediately vault into the saddle of the animal which awaited him. Attendants sometimes made the rounds with him, tendering him drinks and receiving his orders. About the 130th mile a little "shenaniyan" was perpetrated for the benefit of those behind the curtain. Powers up to that time had ridden without difficulty, and sat in his saddle like a monument. He now began to spit blood, and was taken with a sudden weakness in the abdomen, which seemed to communicate itself to the legs.

Doubters now began to bet against Powers which was all that was desired, and considerable sums were put up, by those who considered the game as over. The only blood vessel which was ruptured was a sheep's bladder, which was filled with sanguinary fluid. At the close of the race Powers mounted the Judge's stand and publicly offered to bet five thousand dollars that he would ride tifty miles in two hours; and that no other man in California could perform the feat he had just accomplished; and another, that he would accomplish the 150 miles in five hours, with English or American stock; to which there was no response. The average time of the race is within a fraction of twenty three miles an hour. Powers does, not hesitate to say that he can make much better time than the above. He is a spare built Howell, together with the four teet slip of and whiskers, and a keen eye. The party ground, extending from the rear of said ground with whom Powers is associated realized about $10,000 by the operation. Patrons of the turi count this as the greatest race of the kind on record.
